STATEMENT OF CLAIM:

“Claim of the System Committee of the Brotherhood that:

- (1) The Agreement was violated when the Carrier assigned outside forces (J&H Transportation/Ed Cain) to perform Maintenance of Way and Structures Department work hauling equipment [four (4) gang trailers] from the Carrier’s depot in Taylor, Missouri to the depot in Bushnell, Illinois on August 7, 2013 (System File C-13-C100-373/10-13-0657 BNR).
- (2) The Agreement was violated when the Carrier assigned outside forces (BN Logistics) to perform Maintenance of Way and Structures Department work hauling equipment [four (4) trailers] from Crete, Nebraska and Denton, Nebraska to Burlington, Iowa on August 17 and 18, 2013 (System File C-13-C100-371/10-13-0656).
- (3) The Agreement was further violated when the Carrier failed to provide the General Chairman with proper advance notice of its intent to contract out the work referred to in Parts (1) and/or (2) above or make a good-faith effort to reduce the incidence of subcontracting and increase the use of its Maintenance of Way forces as required by Rule 55 and Appendix Y.

FINDINGS:

The Third Division of the Adjustment Board, upon the whole record and all the evidence, finds that:

The carrier or carriers and the employee or employees involved in this dispute are respectively carrier and employee within the meaning of the Railway Labor Act, as approved June 21, 1934.

This Division of the Adjustment Board has jurisdiction over the dispute involved herein.

Parties to said dispute were given due notice of hearing thereon.

This dispute involves two claims that were processed separately on property but have been combined before the Board because they involve the same rules and similar fact patterns. In both claims, the Carrier is alleged to have assigned outside contractors to transport Carrier-owned trailers during gang moves on August 7, 17, and 18, 2013.

The Organization argues that the work at issue is contractually reserved to, and has customarily, historically, and traditionally been performed by, Maintenance of Way employees. Further, the Organization argues that the Carrier failed to comply with the advance notice and meeting requirements of the Note to Rule 55 and Appendix Y. Based on these arguments, the Organization submits that the Claimants are entitled to the remedy requested in Paragraphs (4) and (5) above.

The Carrier argues that the Organization did not prove that the alleged violation occurred or that Maintenance of Way forces had customarily performed this work on a system-wide basis to the exclusion of others. Further, the Carrier argues that it did comply with Appendix Y. The Carrier also argues that the Organization has failed to prove actual damages.

In contracting cases, the Organization bears the initial burden to demonstrate a claim to the work under the Agreement, and to produce sufficient evidence to establish a violation of the Agreement. See Third Division Award 36208. The parties' respective arguments concerning whether the Organization may establish a claim to the work are based on different interpretations of the Note to Rule 55. The Organization argues that for the Note to Rule 55 to apply when the Carrier contracts with outside forces, it must only prove that BMW-ER-represented forces "customarily performed" the work at issue. The Carrier argues that the Organization must prove that BMW-ER-represented forces "customarily performed the work" and that BMW-ER-represented forces had done so "on a system-wide basis to the exclusion of others." In Award 43565, this Board reviewed arbitral precedent on this issue and determined that the threshold issue in contracting cases is whether the work at issue is "customarily performed" by bargaining unit employees.

In this case, the work performed by the contractor on August 7, 17, and 18, 2013, was work involving the hauling of Carrier equipment that bargaining unit employees regularly perform. On-property, the Organization alleged that its members customarily and historically performed this work. The Carrier did not specifically deny this allegation. Instead, the Carrier issued a general denial and contended that unit members did not perform this work on a system-wide basis to the exclusion of others. The Carrier also suggested that the work at issue is customarily performed by unit members when it notified the Organization that it was going to use "contract flatbed trucks and trailers to supplement our lowboy service." (Emphasis supplied). Thus, the Organization has established that the work at issue is customarily performed by its members.

The Carrier also argues that the Organization did not prove that the disputed work was performed by the contractors. Both claim letters put the Carrier on notice of the disputed work. Specifically, those letters named the contractors, the number of the Carrier's trailers that were moved, the locations where the trailers were picked up and delivered, the number of drivers employed by the contractors and the number of hours they worked, and the date of the moves. This information provided by the Carrier was sufficient for it to review its records and determine whether this work occurred as claimed by the Organization. The Carrier did not deny that this work took place, but, rather, admitted that it had used contractors to supplement its existing forces. The Organization also included statements from the Claimants in support of both claims. On this record, the Organization has met its burden to establish that the work at issue occurred as alleged.

After the Organization has met its initial burden, as it has done here, the Carrier may defeat the claim by showing that the Carrier met the advance notice and meeting requirements of the Note to Rule 55 and Appendix Y. See Third Division Awards 32320, 39685 and PLB 2206 Award 57. The Note to Rule 55 and Appendix Y address the elements to be included in the Carrier's notice of intent to contract. Specifically, the Note to Rule 55 states that work may only be contracted for certain identified reasons, and the requirement to provide notice occurs "[i]n the event the Company plans to contract out work because of one of the criteria described herein." Further, Appendix Y requires that advance notices of subcontracting "identify the work to be contacted and the reasons therefor." Failure to provide a notice or an adequate notice is grounds to sustain the claim because it frustrates the process of discussions contemplated by the notification language. See Third Division Awards 31280, 32862, 34216 and 36015.

In the case, the Carrier provided a notice to the Organization on December 17, 2012, stating, in relevant part:

"As information, BNSF plans to continue the ongoing program of using contract flatbed trucks and trailers to supplement our lowboy service. The trucks and trailers will be used to haul various roadway machines, vehicles and Gang support trailers throughout the BNSF system in 2013 for Region/System, Division and Sickles gangs, on an as needed basis per the attached 2013 RSG work program. This schedule is subject to change without notice.

This letter is intended to inform you of our trackwork programs, and keep you and your membership abreast of our plans to accomplish this work, in the spirit of open dialogue between BNSF and the BMWED.

Attached is the tentative 2013 system gang schedule. Obviously, this schedule is subject to change as the work season progresses.

If you would like to confer on this issue, I can meet with you in our Forth Worth offices on Thursday December 27, 2012 starting at 9:30 am.”

The Organization argued that this notice was inadequate because it did not provide (1) any contractually valid reason for contracting out the work involved; (2) the specific dates that the work would be performed; (3) a full description of the work to be contracted; (4) the length of time the work was expected to take; and (5) the number of contractor employees to be utilized in the performance of the work.

In the Carrier’s December 17, 2012 notice, the reason it gave for contracting was to “supplement our lowboy service,” but that alone was not a contractual justification. Thus, the notice in this case does not identify a reason to justify contracting under the Note to Rule 55, and the Carrier did not submit any evidence that would support any contractual justification. On this record, the claim shall be sustained.

Turning to the issue of a remedy, the Carrier argues that the Organization has failed to prove damages because the Claimants were fully employed during the claim period. It is an axiom in the law that there is no right without a remedy. Consistent with that principle, compensation is an appropriate remedy when there has been a violation of the Agreement, notwithstanding that the Claimants may have been paid at the time of the violation. See Third Division Awards 20633, 21340, 35169, 37470 and PLB 2206, Award 52. As the Board opined in Third Division Award 21340:

“With regard to compensation, numerous prior authorities have held that an award of compensation is appropriate for lost work opportunities notwithstanding that the particular claimants may have been under pay at the time of violation.”

Compensation awarded should be reasonable in view of the record evidence and realistically related to the amount of work actually contracted that represents the loss of work opportunity for the members of the craft. Public Law Board 6204, Award 32. In this case, the evidence supports the remedy requested in Paragraphs (4) and (5) above.
